

If you are looking for a machinery manufacturer who can take care of the development and construction of your machine, both technically and organisationally, you have come to the right place at VGI-Promatec. Our team of engineers has extensive experience in the field of product transfer and handling in both the food and non-food industries. In addition, we have modern production equipment in our workshop and qualified professionals to manufacture your machine efficiently.

